PNEUMONIA ATTACK FATAL TO J. C. PERRY

Native Grenadian Passes Away in 78th Year of Age. Funeral Held Sunday Afternoon—Had Served as Circuit and Chancery Clerk in Years Ago—Bride of 1873 and Four Children Survive besides Other Relatives. Was Vice-President Grenada Bank and Successful Business Man.

Mr. John Calhoun Perry passed away at his home in Grenada last Saturday morning, January 19, at 6 o'clock in the 78th year of his age. His remains were laid to rest Sunday afternoon in Odd Fellows' cemetery after funeral services from the residence conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. E. Farr, of the First Baptist church, assisted by Dr. J. R. Countiss, president of Grenada College.

Mr. Perry was a victim of flu followed by pneumonia. He was in somewhat weakened condition when he became ill and had reached that age when pneumonia is always dangerous to the afflicted.

Mr. Perry was a son of Oliver Hazard and Elizabeth Williams Perry. He first saw the light of day in the home just across the street north of the Planters Hotel in Grenada, September 14, 1851. He was the eldest of six children. The other members of the family were: Oliver H., Chas. E., Mary Lou, now Mrs. Williams, who resides in Washington County at Wayside, Elizabeth T., now Mrs. W. L. Rawls, who lives in the country some miles from Hattiesburg, and Robert E. Perry of Grenada. He was the first of the family to be called to the other world and is said to have been the oldest person in the town who was born here.

He made the wife who survives him his bride in 1873. Her maiden name was Susan Ann Johnson. Their union was blessed with four children, all of whom survive him. They are: John B. Perry, president of the Grenada Cotton Oil Co., Lillian Estelle, now Mrs. Rice Pressgrove, Claud A. Perry and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Brown. Providence specially favored his father and mother and the deceased and his wife in that it never allowed the death angel to claim a child or a grandchild. A wonderful blessing and one that comes to but few families.

After reaching his majority and marrying, Mr. Perry resided at Graysport for a number of years. His first advent before the people of Grenada County was when he first became a candidate for the office of circuit clerk in 1884 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. B. Davis. He did not succeed in his ambition to be clerk then, but was elected at the next general election and filled the office most satisfactorily. J. T. Thomas was at the same time chancery clerk of the county and at the next election, he was not a candidate to succeed himself, so Mr. Perry was chosen. He held the office for eight years, but was not a candidate for a third term. He was popular as a chancery clerk and made a most satisfactory official. After his retirement from his office in January, 1900. he engaged in no particular business, but was not idle. When there was an opportunity for a good investment, he made it, if possible, and was regarded as a most astute and successful business man. He was one of the prime organizers of the Grenada Bank and at the time of his death was serving as vice-president and director of that stable and widely known institution. His judgment was sought by many on business matters and it was generally agreed that he was a safe business counselor and that he had an eye that saw beyond the demands or the needs of one day.

He professed religion during the revival conducted in Grenada in the latter eighties by Major Penn and united with the Baptist church. He believed in the doctrines of his church and was a faithful and loyal supporter of its plans and purposes. As the days and the years rolled by, he mellowed in spirit and grew in those things that show true nobility of character and sincerity of aim and purposes.

J. C. Perry was no dissembler. He was frank and candid and one found little difficulty in locating him on any question that engaged the attention of the public.

But it was not as a public official or as a business man that Mr. Perry shone to his best, but as a husband and a father. He believed in his home and observed its sacred relations with a devotion worthy of emulation. He was a devoted and affectionate husband and a loving and thoughtful father. His happiest moments were those when he and his devoted wife could gather their children and grandchildren around their fireside and there enjoy that holy and sweet relationship that has its inspiration in heaven and over which the Angels smile. There have been but few homes in Grenada where there have been more of those happy comings-together than in the Perry home. The children of the household married and set up homes of their own, but happily for the father and the mother, they all remained in Grenada and there were but few days in the month when they did not wend their way to spend a few hours with the father and the mother. From such a home as the Perry home, the world reaps those riches that endure when silver and gold have perished and when the ephemeral things of earth are known no more.

The funeral services brought a large concourse of friends and business connections together to pay a last tribute to the life of the departed. There were many present from other towns and sections of the state. The ministers paid fitting tributes to the deceased and said those words that tend to bind up bleeding hearts and that cause the grief-stricken to take consolation in the thought that in heaven there are mansions for the children of God.

Besides the brothers and the sisters and the children, Mr. Perry is survived by thirteen grandchildren to all of whom The Sentinel tenders sympathy.

C. W. THOMPSON IN RACE FOR CONSTABLE, BEAT 1

C. W. Thompson has commissioned The Sentinel to place his name before the voters of District No. 1 as a candidate for constable to succeed to the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. M. Wood. The special election is to be held Saturday, Feb. 2.

Mr. Thompson is not unknown to the voters of Grenada, having served two terms as city marshal. The experience he gained during the four years he had charge of law enforcing activities for the city should stand him well in hand should he succeed in being elected to the office to which he now aspires.

Mr. Thompson is an accommodating, pleasant and affable gentleman. That he is honest in all his endeavors, none will deny. He is noted for his loyalty to his friends, a trait that speaks well for any man.

The time is short between now and the date of the election but Mr. Thompson will no doubt utilize every opportunity to see as many voters in person as possible to more fully present his claims to their consideration of his candidacy.

Tax Dodgers Benefit From New Tax Laws

Rush H. Knox, Attorney-General, in Analysis of Fees Received by Him during Past Five Years, Shows How New Statutes Make It Easier for Tax Dodgers to Escape Penalties.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 19.—Attorney General Rush H. Knox, during the five years he has been state's attorney, has collected for the state and county treasuries the sum of $1,756,795.11, from which amount he has claimed and collected as fees the gross amount of $240,955.96.

The statement was issued late yesterday by Attorney General Knox and is part of the report he was asked to submit to the house of representatives' investigation committee which is probing into the affairs of his office.

Of the fees collected and claimed by the attorney general, $83,000 was paid out to other attorneys, accountants, agents and employees, who aided the department in the collection of the funds, the report showed.

Deducting the amount paid out, $157,955.96 remained for the attorney general during the five year period, or an average of $31,591.15 gross to the attorney general per annum.

Of the fees collected by the attorney general, $130,249.16 was secured from income tax collections, while $17,087.60 was collected from inheritance taxes.

Other commissions were:

From circuses, $20,167.37; tax appeals, $45,310.91; miscellaneous $28,149.92.

"It will be seen from the report", said the state's attorney, "figuring on a percentage basis, that 54 per cent of fees was received from income taxes, 7 per cent from inheritance taxes, 8 per cent from privilege taxes; 19 per cent from tax appeals and 12 per cent from miscellaneous collections.

"This of course does not include other fees collected by me as shown by the statement under the head of miscellaneous fees," said the general, "which in most every instance were fees for services rendered where the state or county was not entitled to receive money and where the fees paid did not cost any branch of the state government anything."

"Since the enactment of Senate Bill 117 at the extraordinary session of 1928 legislature, the attorney general is to receive no fees or compensation whatever on account of any collection made by him or his agents for the collection of income taxes when the same is referred to him by the Tax Commissioner. And inasmuch as Senate Bill 118, enacted by the extraordinary session of the legisture of 1928 practically repealed the estate or inheritance tax law, no fees can reasonably be expected from this source," the report says.

"It will be seen that 19 per cent of the fees came from tax appeals, practically all of which were against large corporations where assessments were raised on standing timber in the state, but inasmuch as these large timber interests have at last agreed to return by way of assessment for ad valorem taxation their properties at a price which is as a general rule practically uniform, each with the other, and are now paying a reasonable tax upon such properties, it is exceedingly doubtful as to whether or not this department will receive any further fees or commissions from this source.

"Likewise circuses and other shows exhibiting in this state have learned a lesson from the penalties that this department has inflicted upon them heretofore, and are now paying the privilege tax required of them by law rather than run the risk of paying additional tax and the 100 per cent penalty upon the demand of this department, so I really anticipate no further substantial collection of fees from this source.

"This leaves 12 per cent as available sources for future commissions for this office based upon the five years' experience just passed. Twelve per cent commissions, based upon the amounts heretofore collected, will amount to $28,149.92 for a period of five years, coming to the department, and if I should divide these commissions with other attorneys, accountants, agents and employees on the same basis as heretofore it would cost me practically $11,114.63 to collect the $28,145.92, which would leave for me for the five year period $17,055.29, or $3,407.05 per annum, to say nothing of other additional expenses that necessarily would have to be borne by me in making this collection which has already and will continue to cripple the effective working of the department, and the only ones that will be benefitted will be the tax dodgers who are growing in number and will continue to grow in number from day to day when they learn that it is easier for them to avoid the tax than it has been heretofore."

GRENADA PRISONER HAS CRIME RECORD

Charlie Dyer, as Henry W. Fields, Served Nine Months in U. S. Disciplinary Barracks for Forgery—Sheriff Nason Trying to Check Up on Him through Fingerprints.

Charlie Dyer, imprisoned in the Grenada county jail awaiting action of the grand jury at the circuit court term next week on the charge of stealing the automobile of Ex-Sheriff Dave W. Dogan last October, has a previous criminal record, according to the files of the Department of Justice at Washington.

Sheriff Fred S. Nason has surmised for some weeks that Dyer's first criminal act was not committed when he was alleged to have stolen the automobile from Mr. Dogan. According to the opinion of the sheriff, Dyer was extraordinarily secretive about certain phases of his past life. Therefore, Mr. Nason took the prisoner's fingerprints and forwarded a photograph of the prints to the department at Washington. In reply, he has just received the following communication:

"Referring to your print received Jan. 14, 1929, regarding Charlie Dyer, the following is an abstract of subject's record on file in the Division of Identification and Information:

"Subject as Henry W. Fields, No. 15568, received U. S. Disciplinary Barracks, Alcatraz, Calif., Nov. 16, 1926, from Ft. Shafter, T. H., crime forgery; sentence 9 months."

Sheriff Nason had fifty photographs of Dyer's fingerprints made and is sending them to important centers throughout the country in the belief that the prisoner is wanted elsewhere for a crime of greater magnitude than car stealing.

The sheriff's efforts should be highly commended in this regard.

PASTOR RESUMES LECTURES ON HOLY LAND SUNDAY EVE

Rev. R. L. McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who has been delivering some very interesting lectures on his tour of the holy lands during 1924, will resume his discourses on that subject next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church auditorium. Due to the Christmas holidays, the epidemic of influenza and the illness of the minister, himself, it has been several weeks since his last lecture was delivered. The subject of Sunday evening's talk will be "Hebron and the Cave of Machpelah". The lecture in full will appear in the columns of next week's Sentinel.

At the services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, the pastor will speak from the text, "Go ye therefore and teach all nations".

TEPS INTO FATHER'S PLACE

. B. Perry, Sr., Named to Vice Presidency Grenada Bank.

It is a matter worthy of general ttention when parents have so ained their children that they ay step into their places when ey pass to the beyond. This ten happens, nevertheless it is e exception rather than the rule. is gratifying to parents to see eir children walk worthily and rightly. It is the one thing in e mind of the thoughtful father d mother that their children ay be men and women who have the love of God in their hearts and who lend their aid and influence to the worthwhile things of the community.

Grenada has witnessed during the past week the passing away of an aged father and the oldest son being named the second man in one of the biggest banking institutions of the country. Reference is had to the election of J. B. Perry, Sr., to succeed his father, J. C. Perry, as vice president of the Grenada Bank. His election shows that the bank directors are men of good judgment.

Mr. J. B. Perry has shown his mettle. He began work when he had about reached his majority with what was generally known in Grenada as the "old oil mill". When the Grenada Cotton Oil Co. was organized, he was placed in charge and has made a splendid success of that enterprise. He is now president of that corporation. The Grenada Cotton Oil Co. not only owns the local mill but they have oil mill interests in Greenwood and at several other places in the state.

Mr. Perry is past the half century mark in age. He stands four square on moral questions and is a strong factor in the Baptist church. He is an intelligent, worthy citizen and will successfully fill the place once occupied by his father and to which he has just been chosen.

Legislator-Engineer Discusses Highways

Horace Stansel, Legislator from Sunflower County, Gives Informative Data on Highway Building, Matter of Much Interest at Present to Mississippians—Discusses State Highway Program after Exhaustive Study of Several Years.

The following is the final instalment of an article on roads, written by Hon. Horace Stansel, representative in the Mississippi legislature from Sunflower county. Mr. Stansel, himself an engineer, should be a good authority on the subject of highway building and his article contains much that should interest Mississippians at this time. His discussion follows:

Mississippi's Highway Problem

(By Horace Stansel, Representative Sunflower County)

Mississippi's Constitution, prior to 1924 placed full authority over public roads in the Boards of Supervisors of its several counties. Until Federal Aid was offered, there was no highway department or other state road agency. Solely to obtain Federal Aid, a state highway department was created in 1916, to serve as intermediary between the federal government and the counties or road districts of the state. This started with 3 Commissioners, appointed by the Governor, a chief engineer, an assistant engineer and a stenographer. In 1920 the present law was passed increasing the highway commission to eight elected by the people, and the state has made practically all of its state highway development since that time. The eight year period has witnessed unusual interest on the part of the counties, and the co-operation as a whole, notwithstanding rivalry and ill-feeling in some instances, has produced a well connected and practically continuous road system over the entire state. Of course there were backward counties, but more of these are now active and it is generally true that one can drive a car to any section of the state any day in the year. During this period practically $12,000,000 federal aid have been matched by local funds and $24,000,000 worth of federal aid roads have been constructed. About $40,000,000 of county and district bonds have been issued and local roads not on the state system have been built. Several million dollars of auto tax have gone into construction and in view of the very late start, phenomenal advances in highway construction have been made, notwithstanding Mississippi's limited ability to pay. The increase in auto taxation is supplanting the bond issue against advalorem, and the same rate of progress and a continuation of unusual road development can proceed indefinitely, if the normal agencies are advanced and improved without harmful radical changes. Counties have been paying half the cost, under this procedure, since the beginning and in many instances paying all of the cost because federal aid was insufficient to meet the enormous demand. To change this after many millions had been expended would penalize progressive counties and pay a premium to those which had not done road construction. No equitable plan of reward to the counties, within the ability of the state to pay, can be arranged because of differing plans used in the several counties. Some owe much, many owe comparatively small amounts, and a few have no bonds outstanding for roads.

If the state should now undertake to pay all future road construction costs, it is doubtful if the smaller and poorer counties would obtain a road through them, certainly not more than one, and that would be determined by demands outside the county and not for the development of the county, but in order for traffic to get through or across. Such a road would be of little assistance to the development of that county. On some of the most rural roads of the populous counties there is twice as much traffic and twice as great need for an improved road as on the main highway of thinly populated counties. It is not the counties that need roads, but the people who use roads, that need them, and the great mileage of rural roads in Mississippi is a result of the greater need for rural roads for agricultural interests, and development.

Main roads in small and financially weak counties can best be aided by a state equalizing fund, used in a similar manner as the equalizing school fund. To designate an abnormally large mileage in order to include sufficient mileage in such counties, would require excessive costs, and a longer delay in attaining a completed program. It would also encroach on the county funds and result in injury to the development of the local road program which constitutes 90% of the road mileage of the state and is vital to agriculture, dairying, rural education and advancement. Road construction heretofore completed indicates that there have been available about eight million dollars annually from all sources. Unless a plan better than the one in present use can be offered, is there good reason to make a change? It appears safer and more practical to improve the present plan to meet increased arterial highway need, and not wreck the rural road program. The receipts from gas taxes, with federal aid, and the counties authorized to anticipate a part of their share of auto taxes, can be arranged to supply six million annually for construction purposes, over and above state maintenance, with counties retaining the funds they have heretofore received. This sum is all that can economically be used. With commitments out for 1929 and all agencies supplied with a fair quota of work, material producers running at about normal and labor in fair supply, it would be impossible to

LITTLE IRBY GIRL IS FATALLY BURNED

Lee Ora, 4½ Year Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Irby, Dies from Burns Received while Playing with Matches—Brother, Aged 6, Saves Life of Baby Sister, One Year Old.

Lee Ora, four and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Pratt Irby, was fatally burned between six and seven o'clock last Saturday night, Jan. 19, when a blazing match with which she was playing ignited her clothing. She was rushed to Grenada Hospital at once but nothing medical aid could do could prolong her life. At 3 o'clock Sunday morning she breathed her last and her soul left the little body to return to Him who gave it. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. J. H. Holder, pastor of the Methodist church, after which burial was in Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Coverings on the bed on which the little girl was playing also became ignited from the match and but for the presence of mind of little Chester Irby, Jr., a double funeral might have been held from the Irby home. He snatched Mary Louise, his one-year old sister, from the flaming bed where she was playing and carried her to safety. She suffered a slightly burned foot.

The little girl whose life was lost was the second child. Her sweet childish ways gave her quick entrance into the hearts and the affections of those who knew her. She was a joy and a delight to her fond parents and, although their grief over her loss is hard to bear, they should receive much consolation in the thought that she will be waiting for them when they cross the Great Divide.

To the distressed parents and other loved ones, The Sentinel tenders its deepest sympathy in their great bereavement.

FOUR OPERATIONS FAIL TO SAVE LIFE OF YOUTH, 17

Four surgical operations during the course of a stay of three weeks in Grenada Hospital failed to save the life of Green W. Carpenter, Jr., 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Green W. Carpenter, who reside near Holcomb. A ruptured appendix with the complication of pneumonia was the cause of his death which occurred on Tuesday, Jan. 15th.

The youth had borne his suffering with Christian resignation and fortitude but a few days before his death he realized he could not get well and he spoke beautifully to his anxious loved ones of the life beyond the grave. Green Carpenter, Jr. was known as a splendid young man. He was attentive to his parents and his sisters and brothers and was a dutiful and obedient son and a kind and considerate brother. He was already giving evidence of a mind and an outlook on life that would do credit to one many years his senior, although he lacked several years of reaching maturity.

The Sentinel extends its sincere condolences to the sorrowing mother and father and other loved ones.

Mississippi Sheriffs Draw Large Salaries

Report Shows Fifteen Made More Money in 1928 than Governor Draws—Coahoma County Sheriff Reports Net Earnings for Year $22,130.08—Grenada Sheriff Made $285.41 Net.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 21.—It cost the taxpayers of 73 counties $810,158.79 to operate the sheriff's office during the calendar year 1928, and out of this total the sheriffs received net $370,559.17, after paying $442,359.08 for hire of deputies and other expenses incurred, according to sworn reports of receipts and disbursements filed by sheriffs with the secretary of state in compliance with an act of the Legislature at the extraordinary session.

This act, introduced by Rep. Hayward Drane, of Adams county, requires the sheriffs to file an itemized statement showing the receipts and disbursements for the preceding year with the secretary of state not later than Jan. 15, and provides for a stiff fine and jail sentence for inaccuracies in the report.

Legislators sponsoring the act were confident that it was the forerunner of legislation which would result is giving publicity to the amount of fees and commissions received by state, county and municipal officials with a view of permitting compilation of records which would reveal the actual cost of government in all the political divisions and subdivisions. Much of this cost is now hidden in the fee system for which no public record is available at any centralized point.

Nine sheriffs were unable to comply with the law, some due to illness and others because of failure to forward affidavits along with their reports, and as a result returns for the counties of Attala, Calhoun, Carroll, Hancock, Jefferson, Stone, Tallahatchie, Union and Wayne have not yet been received.

Sheriff R. W. Dugger, of Panola county, with courthouses at Batesville and Sardis, according to his report, paid out in expenses the sum of $2,759.46 in excess of his receipts, which accounts for the discrepancy between total receipts plus net earnings and expenses, shown in the table below. The sheriff, in his report explained that his expense account covered the full year but that his receipts for December were not included. A supplemental report will follow, he said.

The largest net earnings reported by any sheriff for the year came from Sheriff W. L. Mat-

MRS. G. Y. GILLESPIE DIED AT DUCK HILL

The many friends of Dr. G. Y. Gillespie and family of Duck Hill deeply sympathize with them over the death of Mrs. Gillespie which occurred the latter part of last week. Mrs. Gillespie was known by many Grenadians and they knew her as a good wife, a devoted mother and as a faithful Christian. Her home was one of those places where the light of heaven was reflected and where evenness and simplicity and genuineness were dominant. and where the family found refuge and encouragement from the busy things of life and she was a potent factor in making it so. To the bereft The Sentinel tenders condolence.

Lncoln Licorish, a young negro, received much applause last week at the hands of audiences in a New York vaudeville house, although it was his first stage appearance. The ovation which greeted him was deserved, however, for he was a hero. As one of the quartermasters of the ill-fated Vestris, he saved 20 persons from death by pulling them from the water and into a life boat when the vessel sank.

DR. WHITAKER THINKS FARMERS BOYCOTTED

Says Farm Extension Forces and Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association State They Will Not Purchase Fertilizers for Farmers in Any County Not Employing the Demonstration Agent—Sees in This Action Effort to Force Counties of State to Employ Demonstration Workers.

Editor Sentinel: Please allow me a little space to present a matter of some importance to the farmers of Grenada County and particularly to the members of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association, and it is this: The facts developed lead me to the conclusion that the Farm Extension Forces and the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association have joined together to either force every county to employ a farm demonstration agent or penalize the farmers of that county if it is not done.

I have been a member of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association for several years and as a whole I have been pleased with the way my cotton has been handled and have intended to continue my membership therein, but if the facts are as I see them, and as I gathered them from my good friend, Mr. L. A. Olson, District Farm Agent, and Mr. Armstrong of the local cotton office of the M. F. B. C. A., then I am done.

I sought Mr. Olson with the view of getting some fertilizer purchased, but he informed me that I could not buy any through the farm extension forces, that they would sell to farmers in no county where a farm demonstrator was not employed. I was surprised at the information. I was little less than astonished at what seemed to me high handed and coercive methods. I then approached Mr. Armstrong above referred to and he made practically the same statement that Mr. Olson did.

Now I am not defending the action of the board of supervisors of the county in the action it took relative to the employment of a farm demonstrator, neither am I condemning the board.

The fact is, however, that the board did not refuse to employ a farm demonstrator, but did not see proper to re-employ the gentleman in charge here last year. The board fixed the salary much below what was paid last year and it seems that no one has been designated to take the place at the salary the board named. The gentleman last year got $3,000. from the county and one thousand dollars, as I understand, from the federal government. I think it will be generally agreed that the salary was too high. Not many men in the county with years of experience and valuable property are making that much. The board may have named a salary too low. The salary it fixed together with what the federal government paid would be $2200.

But all this aside. The farmers of the county who want help from the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association should not be boycotted because there is no farm demonstrator. To undertake to do so is a piece of business in my judgment that the M. B. F. C. A. and farm extension forces will regret. The farm extension forces should remember that they are in a sense public servants and that primarily their pay comes out of the federal treasury, and that they are dependent upon congressional legislation for the jobs they hold.

I will state that I wrote Mr. Neill, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association, relative to the matter about which I am writing and entered a protest with him but thus far I have not heard from him.

I can see the matter in no other light than one of coercion and a piece of petty politics. These farm forces may be taking a step which, if persisted in, may bring upon themselves what Samson brought upon himself.

In the name of the farmers of Grenada County I enter a protest against what appears to me a piece of high handed business.

Very respectfully,

W. H. WHITAKER.

Grenada, Miss., Jan. 24, 1929.

P. S. Since writing the above, I have received an answer to my letter to Mr. Neill and next week, if the editor permits, both my letter to him and his reply will be published.

CIRCUIT COURT CONVENES IN GRENADA NEXT MONDAY

The winter term of circuit court will convene in Grenada next Monday morning, Jan. 28th, with Judge John F. Allen, of Kosciusko, presiding. District Attorney David E. Crawley, of Kosciusko, will handle the prosecution of cases for the state and he will be assisted by Sam C. Mims, Jr., prosecuting attorney of Grenada county.

There are not so very many cases on the docket and it is expected that the court session will not go into the second week.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Work of the Holy Spirit.

I. The Personality of the Spirit (John 16:7, 8).

Personality is here implied by the use of the personal pronoun. In the original Scriptures personal pronouns are used uniformly in speaking of the Spirit. Then, too, He is called the Comforter. The word "comforter" literally means one called to stand by the side of another as a helper, counsellor and guide. While Jesus sojourned in the world He was such to His disciples. He assured them that upon His withdrawal the Holy Spirit would take his place as friend, helper and counsellor. The personality of the Spirit is also proved by the fact that He performs acts only possible to persons. In John 14:26 He performs the function of a teacher. He not only teaches, but He speaks as a person giving direction to the disciples as in Acts 8:29 and 13:2. His personality is again proved by the fact that men act toward him as they could act only toward a person. In Isaiah 63:10 the prophet declared that men vexed the Holy Spirit. It would be manifestly improper to speak of vexing an influence; only a person can be vexed. In Matthew 12:31 Jesus speaks of men blaspheming against the Holy Spirit. It would be impossible to blaspheme against an influence. In Ephesians 4:30 Paul speaks of grieving the Spirit. Again, it would be manifestly improper to speak of grieving an influence. Further, in I Corinthians 12:11 Paul speaks of the Holy Spirit exercising the function of will. One of the essential characteristics of personality is that of volition. The Holy Spirit is represented as divine. He has the attributes of deity. In Psalm 139:7-9 He is declared to be omnipresent; in I Corinthians 2:9-11 omniscient. He also performs the works of God. He is the creator and renewer (Ps. 104:30). He is called God in Acts 5:3-4, and II Corinthians 3:18.

II. How Believers Are Related to the Holy Spirit. They are regenerated by Him (John 3:5-8); they are indwelt by Him (I Cor. 6:19; Gal. 4:6). He also fills (Eph. 5:18 and Acts 4:31). To be filled with the Holy Spirit is the duty of every believer. No one has the right to perform any work for Christ without this filling (Luke 24:48, 49; Acts 1:8). Even the temporalities of the church should be in the hands of the Spirit-filled men (Acts 6:1-3).

III. What the Holy Spirit Does (John 16:8-11).

1. Convicts the world of sin (v. 8).

The one awful sin of the world is unbelief. The Holy Spirit convicts the people of the world of their error concerning sin and shows their guilt before God.

2. He convicts the world of righteousness (v. 10).

The resurrection and ascension of Christ prove that He is the Righteous One, and that righteousness is only possible as He is accepted as Savior.

6. He convinces the world of judgment.

To be convinced of the reality of judgment is the crying need of the world today. Sin unatoned for shall be punished. The sinner who refuses the righteousness which God provided in Jesus Christ also shall be judged.

4. The Spirit mortifies the deeds of the flesh (Rom. 8:12, 13).

The only way to get the victory over our carnal natures is to give the place of rulership to the Holy Spirit.

5. He leads the believer (v. 14).

The Spirit-filled believer lives the life of the Son of God.

6. He gives assurance to the believer (Rom. 8:15-17).

The Holy Spirit witnesses together with the human spirit to the reality of the new birth.

7. He enables the believer to pray according to the will of God (Rom. 8:26, 27).

While the believer does not know how to pray as he ought, the Holy Spirit helpeth his infirmity. All prayer which the Holy Spirit indites the Heavenly Father answers.

A SEASONABLE POEM:
"THE TIME IS BRIEF"

Appropriate to this first month of the new year are these verses by Grace Noll Crowell, of Texas, in the Christian Herald:

Because the longest life is brief,
I must be swift in keeping
The little trysts with kindliness,
Before the time of sleeping!

I must be swift in reaching out,
To those whose hearts are yearning;
O, swift indeed to love them much
Before the long road's turning!

Before a sudden summons comes,
I surely must be saying
The words that I have failed to say—
The prayers I should be praying.

Uncle Robert Fletcher, one of our time honored citizens, has been critically ill with pneumonia for several days but at this writing is on the mend. Considering his advanced years we think he has made a splendid fight against this dreaded disease. Mrs. Eliza Fletcher of Chicago and his daughter of New Orleans are here with him. His daughter is a trained nurse at her home in the Crescent City and came to visit him at a time when she could be of much help to him in getting back to health. She is reputed to be skilled in caring for the sick. We hope to see Mr. Fletcher well in a few days.

Mr. Dan House, of Detroit, Mich., is in the city visiting his sister, Mrs. G. M. Chisholm, wife of the pastor of Vincent M. E. church. He recently buried his wife at Pickens, Miss., his native home, and his two young children are here with their aunt.

The Parent Teachers Association of our group will convene at the school auditorium on Friday evening at 7:30. Mrs. Bohanan, the president, is hoping that all the officers as well as patrons and friends will be present. You are not compelled to have children in the school to become a member and participant in the efforts that the association is making. All friends who desire to see the school grow in importance and efficiency are invited and made welcome to do any good possible for its advancement. Our children need the same things that any other children need for comfort, utility and pleasure. Let us give it to them even at a sacrifice. Some day the fruits of our efforts will be regarded as blessed.

It seems hard to yield to the inevitable demands of the course of nature and the edict, that man is born to die. We are at this season faced with a heavy toll by the grim reaper. Many in our group have had cause to mourn his ravages. While it is not confined to any particular age or race we observe that it seems to be among the older people, white and colored. Some of our most outstanding citizens give us much concern and regret. In the course of only a few months such men as Judge McLean, Mr. Stokes, Mr. Kimbrough, Mr. Duncan, Mr. Perry and others of our white friends have crossed the river. We feel very keenly this great loss in the rank and file of these good men and cannot find language to express our grief, as a group, in this loss, because they were our friends. We loved them, for they stood for the things that were vital to our race and at all turns evinced their interest in our welfare. We mourn our loss and join in condolence and sympathy for those most intimately connected.

Miss Willie Mae Caffey died Jan. 1, 1929. She was born 1910. She was the daughter of Tom and Maud Caffey. She was a good girl and was loved by all who knew her. She was a member of Bethelhem Missionary Baptist church. Willie Mae was a faithful worker for the cause of Jesus Christ. She leaves a father and mother, 8 brothers and 6 sisters and a host of relatives.

The members of Union Hill A. M. E. Church had the misfortune of having their church burned Jan. 4. Several of the members were present when the church burned.

On Jan. 12, Mrs. Mary Crowder had the misfortune of getting her house and everything in the house burned. Her aged grandmother was living with her, and was the only one there when the house burned. She has been very feeble for some time.

On Jan. 13 Mount Pleasant Missionary Baptist Church lost one of its oldest deacons, Sqare Eskridge who was about 80 years old had been a member of the church 35 years. There was a splendid program rendered at his funeral. Square Eskridge leaves an aged wife and children and a host of grandchildren and many friends to mourn his loss.

On Jan. 13, Sam Hughs' wife died. She had penumonia. She was about 80 years old. She had been married 50 years. Elizzie Hughs was a member of Union Hill A. M. E. Church. She was a good Christian woman. She will be missed by all who knew her. She leaves a husband, several children and grand children to mourn her loss.

Legislator-Engineer Discusses Highways

use even this sum in the year 1929. And were ten million available it would be in the same useless position. No surveys have been completed, no projects, right of ways, relocations, nor any plans made for such a volume of work. In fact the entire north half of the state is without a reasonable source of supply should concrete, gravel and sand be used, that can be delivered at an economic freight rate, and in the large quantities that such a program would require. The Association of State Highway Officials has said that highway bonds were justifiable only where the pay as you go plan does not promptly provide the highways economically necessary. Six million annually, and an equalizing fund, in the light of our past progress, should be ample funds for a construction program.

Many other angles are worth consideration, but brevity forbids. One instance is the subject of air resistance losses, covered in Iowa State College bulletin No. 88 published May 8, 1928. This school in connection with the U. S. Bureau of Public roads developed that air resistance to car travel over all types of road, is 20% greater in fuel consumption at 35 miles than it is at 15 miles per hour. Likewise it is more than 30% greater at 45 miles. A smoother road lowers fuel costs, but speed against air resistance even on a still day, counteracts, and the high speed easily made on a paved road, costs just as much fuel as the reasonable or low speed on maintained gravel road. Higher speeds cost much more fuel.

Hon. J. C. Roberts, chairman, has loaned me the audits of the Highway Department, prepared by W. Q. Sharp, accountant, covering the last 3 quarterly periods and these are very informative as to maintenance costs in the state. The average cost of maintenance of the 4664 miles for the period of August, September, and October 1928 was $41.87 per mile per month. This was at the rate of over half a million for the quarter or over two million annually. However, this is at the period of the year when gravel resurfacing is probably most heavy, and road-ditching and shoulder work, in expectation of winter, is most expensive, and may represent more than one-fourth the annual cost. At the end of the present quarter a more detailed comparison for full year period will no doubt be available. Comparison with past months does not suggest that average maintenance is increasing except on short local sections. In the February, March, April period there were only 28 sections, of about 228 miles, that cost in maintenance at a rate of $1600 or more per year. In the May, June, July period there were only 22 sections, of less than 200 miles. In the August, September, October period likewise about 20 sections of less than 200 miles cost at the rate of $1600 per year or over. Only one section of ten miles in the 28 costly sections in the first period, showed up as costly in the second period. In the third period only one section that appeared in the first period and three in the second period, reappeared. This largely indicates where resurfacing, and reworking is done. Following such work, maintenance usually drops on these sections to a minimum cost. However some heavily traveled sections, requiring large amounts of gravel, do not cost excessively due to road side gravel pits. Other sections, less traveled, where gravel is freighted and trucked long mileage, are very costly. Availability of local gravel pits can save millions of dollars in a state program, and maintenance costs is an important weather-vane in planning a state system.

Mississippi can avoid a six-year road building "drunk" and a twenty-year bond and interest paying of "sobering up". We can avoid a six year period of paralyzed road conditions and of traveling nothing but detours, by an orderly, sound, economic, and reasonable program. Many states are following such a program, particularly Indiana, who is building 200 miles or more of paved road annually, from current funds. J. Borden Weeks, president of the American Motorists Assn. in a report of a recent survey made by that association stated that Indiana leads all other states in the construction of their road building program. Indiana will never have to stop and pay up, because where there's a bill there's a pay, but can continue throughout the years to build more mileage from current funds to serve more territory. Such a program is well worth the consideration of Mississippians at this time when the state bonded indebtedness is at a new high record, and state notes at 6% interest almost go begging in the money markets of the nation.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE AND ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON

In the District Court of the United States.

For the Western Division, Northern District of Mississippi.

In the Matter of Joseph P. Sisk, Bankrupt.

No. 4721 in Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable E. R. Holmes, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Mississippi, Joseph P. Sisk, of Grenada, in the County of Grenada, and State of Mississippi, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 24th day of February last past he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 19th day of January, A. D., 1929.

J. P. SISK,
Bankrupt.

ORDER OF NOTICE

Northern District of Mississippi, ss:

On this 21st day of January, A. D. 1929, on reading the foregoing Petition for Discharge of the above-named Bankrupt, it is—

Ordered By the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1929, before the said court, at Oxford in said district, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in The Grenada Sentinel, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send, by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness The Honorable E. R. Holmes, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Oxford, in said district, on the 21st day of January, A. D. 1929.

J. J. VANCE,
(Seal of the Court) Clerk.

IT DRIVES OUT WORMS

The surest sign of worms in children is paleness, lack of interest in play, fretfulness, variable appetite, picking at the nose and sudden starting in sleep. When these symptoms appear it is time to give White's Cream Vermifuge. A few doses drives out the worms and puts the little one on the road to health again. White's Cream Vermifuge has a record of fifty years of successful use. Price 85c. Sold by

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color which indicates poor blood and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c.

A package of Grove's Liver Pills is enclosed with every bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for those who wish to take a Laxative in connection with the Tonic.

BLAME OLE SOL....

For the past month or so your light bill may have seemed a bit higher than usual—if this be true, you'll have to blame Ole Sol. At this season of the year he does not stay on duty as long as he does during the spring and summer.

You will use your electric lights in January almost twice as long as you use them in June. So in winter your bills will naturally be higher than in the summer months.

The cool veranda, where you spend your summer evenings has given way to the comfortable living room, where soft, inviting lights welcome you. But the increase in your light bill at this season is almost nothing when compared with the comfort and cheer that electricity brings to the long winter evenings at home.

The average number of hours a day that electric lights are needed during the months of the year is estimated as follows:

January	4:33	July	2:59
February	4:12	August	3:21
March	3:52	September	3:45
April	3:35	October	4:21
May	3:14	November	4:55

"PAY AS YOU GO" ROAD POLICY

Some weeks ago, when the House of Representatives in the Mississippi Legislature refused to sanction the issuance of eighty-five million dollars of road bonds, to be spent by Gov. Bilbo and his appointees, without let or hinderance from anybody, the esteemed Memphis Commercial-Appeal was rather sharp in its criticisms of the Mississippi legislature, stating that they ought to follow the leadership of Governor Bilbo and issue bonds in an unheard of amount; that it was foolish to attempt to build roads in Mississippi without such a bond issue. Editor Turner, of the Ruleville Record, modestly suggested that perhaps the Commercial-Appeal was not acquainted with all the facts, that it should allow Mississippians to build their own roads. This was followed by more ridicule of the Mississippi Legislature, and its pay as you go road plan.

This week, the Governor of Tennesse delivered his address to the Legislature of that state, and one of the most important planks in the document is his advocacy of the "pay as you go" policy for building Tennessee roads, using the receipts each year from the gasoline tax for building new improved highways in the Volunteer state. This is just what the Mississippi House of Representatives wanted to do. Governor Horton emphatically disapproves the plan to issue bonds for building highways in that state. The Commercial-Appeal now hails this policy as the very best thing that could be done.

Why is the "pay as you go" policy so good for Tennessee and so out of place in Mississippi? Why is it wrong to pile up additional bond issues for roads in Tennessee, but quite the right thing in Mississippi?

Some of the Commercial-Appeal's readers have pointed out that the Commercial-Appeal is now controlled by a bond selling concern, with large investments in Kentucky Rock Asphalt, cement mills, and other road building materials. We don't believe the late C. P. J. Mooney would have pulled a "boner" such as the one mentioned above.

The Stansell bill, advocated by the House of Representatives, is fashioned on the pay as you go, advocated by Governor Horton, and now advocated by the Commercial-Appeal—for Tennessee?—Aberdeen Examiner.

SCHOOLS. SENIOR CLASSES, HOME PRINTERS AND HIGH POWERED SALESMAN

A high-powered salesman, who has the gift of gab, and who cares no more for your interest than a man in Timbuctoo, can get around among some people and sell them their wares, even though the purchaser does not want to buy from him and possibly does not need them. We know of people buying from these slick artist salesmen things they absolutely do not need and which they absolutely cannot pay for, but that is not the why of this article.

The graduating class of the high schools of this or any other state seldom purchase their invitations and cards from the home printer, who can either do the work or have it done at a saving to the class, but they listen to a high-powered, smooth salesman, and buy of him their invitations and their graduating cards, and at the same time expect the home newspaper to give them a handsome "write-up" when they graduate. That is a fact. We have been there. We have had class presidents and classes to come and ask for samples, and we get them, but they never call to see them, for they have listened to the siren voice of the traveling salesman and have bought the invitations, which come to the class C. O. D. and ofttimes are not what the class selected.

Every office in the good state of Mississippi can print or get as handsome a lot of invitations and cards as any printery on earth, and the school should patronize their home printer.

A few months before the closing of the school the printer will have on his table as handsome a lot of invitations as any traveling salesman ever has shown, and the very first act of the graduating class of any school in any town where there is a newspaper and job office should get prices from that office, and more than that they should give their order to the home town printer.

The class can't expect the printer in Chicago, Augusta, Maine, Newark, St. Louis, or elsewhere to be interested in it, or any of its members, to make mention of their graduation, but they want the home town paper to do it, and reciprocating is a mighty fine way to win the heart of the editor.—Newton Record Examiner.

SHORTEN ROADS TO SAVE MONEY

The major portion of our Highway System has developed from trails into secondary roads, and then into community roads and finally become connected into Trunk Line Highways. Until the advent of through automobile traffic, the length of a road was immaterial.

It is therefore natural that on account of the tremendous use now being made of our Trunk Line Highways, there should be a definite tendency to make these roads as direct and as short as possible. In general, new road-construction plans call for the shortening of the right of way through the adoption of new locations, to cut out curves and eliminate the deviations of the days when engineers' instruments were not a necessary part of road builders' equipment.

Professor Agg, of Iowa State University, declares that where the travel is one thousand (1000) cars daily, each foot of distance saved in the road-length will justify an expenditure of sixty dollars ($60.00). This will make it economical to spend at least three hundred thousand dollars, ($300,000.00) to shorten a road one mile.

This can be easily proved. At seven cents per mile per car operating cost, and one thousand cars per day, the total is seventy dollars ($70.00) per day. This, at 365 days per year, amounts to twenty-five thousand, five hundred dollars ($25,500.00) per year. Over a fifteen year period, with today's traffic, it is seen that one mile is worth three hundred eighty-two thousand, five hundred dollars, ($382,500.00).

The desire to reach our destinations in the shortest possible time is common to us all, and direct routes will pay enormous dividends to the gas tax payers!—Ex.

WHICH WOULD YOU TAKE?

You couldn't distinguish between Bell and Laura. T. H. Royder, tester for Bexar county, Texas, dairy herd improvement association, said one looked as good as the other. But the test records indicated Laura was a loafer. At least she misappropriated some of her feed.

During 274 days Laura produced 3,233 pounds of milk at a feed cost of $38.15 while Bell produced 6,251 pounds at a feed cost of $51.99. Laura wasn't so bad except by comparison, for she paid $68.89 above feed cost. That is better than ordinary cows in Texas do, but Laura returned $140.50 above the cost of her feed.

Mr. Royder estimates that if both cows had been given the same amount of feed, regardless of their production, the profits from Laura would have been $21.39 less. So the cow testing not only distinguished the better cow but it made the poor one more profitable than she might have been.—Cappers Weekly.

Governor Bilbo has shown most conclusively that he is determined to be the "big chief!" when it comes to spending the state's money in future, and so is working to that end with might and main, both in and out of the legislature. He has had his eye on the state highway commission, presumably because considerable sums of money pass through that office, and the governor wants a finger in the pie, if there is any pie to pass. Anyway he is making it unpleasant for the present members of that body by refusing to sign their commissions, because of an alleged irregularity of several years ago in the handling of certain funds. We hold no brief for the members of that body but as we see the matter, they may be guilty on a technicality, and so the governor is making a mountain out of a typical molehill. If any of the members are guilty of wrong-doing they should be removed from office and punished, but it certainly reflects discredit on the state for the governor to be ever and eternally trying to find fault with those in office with whom he does not happen to be friendly politically.—Woodville Republican.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE WILL MEET AT HOLCOMB

We're off to Holcomb to back our young people up in their B. Y. P. U. work on the first Sunday in February when they will render one of the best programs you have had an opportunity to see and hear. 2 o'clock p. m.

B. Y. P. U. associational meeting at Holcomb—First Sunday in February—every Baptist should be there and any other Christians are welcome and will be benefitted by coming. At 2 o'clock p. m.

We hope that there will be a good attendance from each of the twelve Baptist Churches in Grenada County. Mr. Pastor and Deacons, see that you are fully represented. Come yourself and bring others. If you do not believe in the work come and we will do our best to make a believer out of you. First Sunday in February at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

To Sing in Jackson February 25

ROSA RAISA

Famous soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera Company who sings the leading role in "Norma" at the Municipal Auditorium at Jackson on February 25, was born in Russian, Poland. Compelled to flee from Russia at the age of fourteen, she went to Capri, Italy, where a kind-hearted woman befriended her and gave her a musical education. Under the patronage of Cleofonte Campanini she made her debut at Parma, and later came to the Chicago Opera, with whom she has remained since, except for one year spent abroad. Miss Raisa has been acclaimed one of the foremost dramatic sopranos.

Interest in this noted Opera by Bellini, as well as Massenet's "Thais," in which Mary Garden will sing at Jackson on February 26th, is being manifested by orders for reservations received each day by Treasurer S. S. Marks, from all over Mississippi.

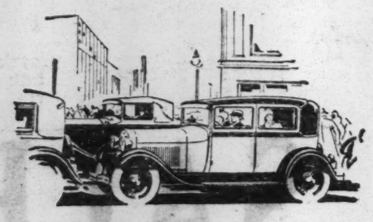
Safety, silence and simplicity are features of the new Ford six-brake system



ONE of the first things you will notice when you drive the new Ford is the quick, effective, silent action of its six-brake system.

This system gives you the highest degree of safety and reliability because the four-wheel service brakes and the separate emergency or parking brakes are all of the mechanical, internal expanding type, with braking surfaces fully enclosed for protection against mud, water, sand, etc.

The many advantages of this type of braking system have long been recognized. They are brought to you in the new Ford through a series of mechanical improvements embodying much that is new in design and manufacture. A particularly unique feature is the simple way by which a special drum has been constructed to permit the use of two sets of internal brakes on the rear wheels.

A further improvement in braking performance is effected by the self-centering feature of the four-wheel brakes — an exclusive Ford development. Through this construction, the entire surface of the shoe is brought in steady, uniform contact with the drum the instant you press your foot on the brake pedal. This prevents screeching and howling and makes the Ford brakes unusually silent in operation.

Another feature of the Ford brakes is the ease of adjustment.

The four-wheel brakes are adjusted by turning a screw conveniently located on the outside of each brake plate. This screw is so notched that all four brakes can be set alike simply by listening to the "clicks."

The emergency or parking brakes on the new Ford require little attention. However, should they need adjustment at any time, consult your Ford dealer for prompt, courteous, and economical service. He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

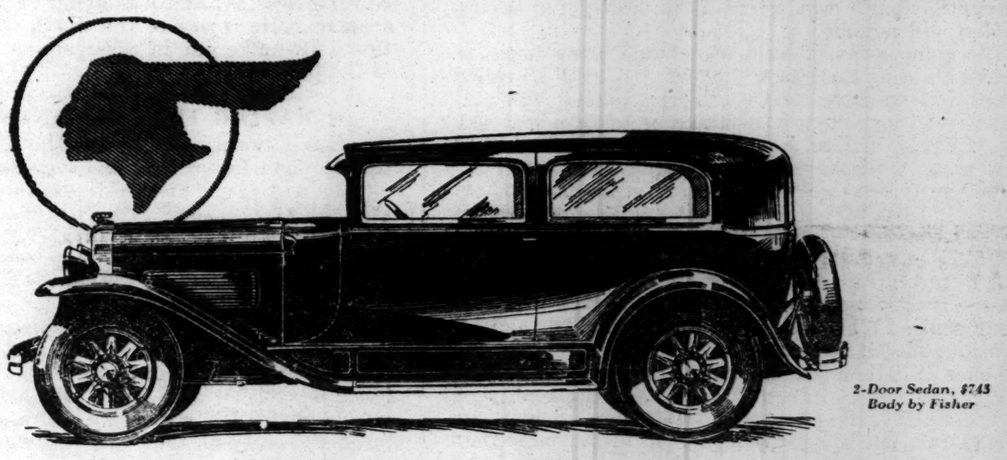
FORD MOTOR COMPANY



2-Door Sedan, $745
Body by Fisher

announcing The New PONTIAC BIG SIX

Introducing Big Car Standards of Luxury, Style and Performance at $745

TODAY a new type of low cost motoring luxury is available. It embraces big car style. It provides big car riding comfort. It embodies big car quality in unseen parts. It is offered by a brand new automobile—the New Pontiac Big Six.

Frankly, the New Pontiac Big Six was designed to appeal to a certain group. This group is made up of people who are beginning to move up in the world. Many of them will soon make the first step up in the quality of their cars. The New Pontiac Big Six was designed for them.

It comes to them entirely new in appearance. Stunning new bodies by Fisher contribute to the big car beauty and big car style presented by the car as a whole.

Progressive people are seeking greater luxury. The Pontiac Big Six offers them the luxury for which bodies by Fisher are famous the world over. It provides the smooth-riding qualities of a car 167 inches in overall length, with accurately balanced rotating mechanical parts and such advanced comfort features as adjustable drivers' seats.

It is a six with the added power of a larger L-head engine and the added smoothness imparted by a dynamically balanced, counter-weighted crankshaft and the famous Harmonic Balancer. Its new brakes are of the dirt-and-weather-proof internal four-wheel type.

It reveals big car performance even to the point of developing big car power and big car speed.

Only a few highlights in its construction have been mentioned. Just enough to prove that the Pontiac Big Six is entirely new and capable of meeting progressive Americans' demand. But the amazing thing about it is that it gives so much big car luxury, style and performance at prices which come within practically everyone's reach!

Prices $745 and up, f.o.b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and rear fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

THE PASSING OF LOVED ONES AND FRIENDS.

Death has been abroad in the land since the day that Cain slew Abel. It is the one absolutely certain thing which no human being can escape and is the one thing that all humanity dreads more or less. It is the journey which every human traveler must take, yet apparently it is the journey to which most of us give but little serious thought and for which we are seemingly failing to make those preparations laid down in Holy Writ if we intend to reach that haven where God dwells and where happiness reigns supreme.

The columns of the press bear testimony that death has been abroad in our land during the past few months. The poet's words,

"Death rides in every passing breeze;
It lurks in every flower,
Each season has its own disease—
There is a peril every hour"

are brought vividly to the mind of every thoughtful person. We wonder if we are getting the lesson we should get from the big harvest the dreaded reaper is taking over the land?

Our own town and community has been called upon to give up some of its oldest, best and leading citizens as well as those in the springtime of life, in the joy of youth and in the contemplation of middle life.

When the lives of our loved ones and dear friends are known to be hanging in the balance, we go with all our loving yearning to Him who giveth life and who conquered death that they may be spared.

From Grenada during the past six months, Judge Wm. C. McLean, A. W. Stokes, B. C. Duncan, O. L. Kimbrough, Sr., and J. C. Perry have been called to the other world. These men played well their parts in the battle of life. They were important factors in making the community what it is. It is difficult for the mind to grasp in all of its fullness the thought that they have gone never to return. They are not dead but sleepeth. We have our Saviour's own words as authority for saying that they did not die.

The going away of so many should bring home to each and all of us the lesson that we, too, shall be called to cross over the river and particularly should the taking away of those mentioned make us of Grenada take stock of our own lives, how we are living and whither we are going. We are keepers of our own destiny.

Sorrow comes to a home, but veiled in the sorrow, the angels of comfort and consolation come, too, and we hear their voices whisper soft and low, "the best things are laid up in heaven".

A bitter cup may be given but if we look heavenward and trust our Maker, it will prove to be a medicine for our souls. When our souls are in anguish and all the world looks dark because of the departure of our loved ones, it is then that the lamp of promise shines out and gives us a peep into the beauty and the reality of that life which exists beyond. Death may seem to be the end of all, but if we will but listen to the voices that come echoing out of the ages past and if we but yield our spirits to the guidance of heavenly influences, we shall see that it is but the beginning of real life and only marks the passing of empty shadows to eternal realities.

"What shall thine 'afterward' be, Oh Lord?
I wonder, and wait to see
While to thy chastening hand I bow
What peaceable fruit may be ripening now,—
Ripening fast for me".

We should strive to be better men and women because of the going away of loved ones and dear friends and because we get more of the real sweetness of living by so doing and, most important of all, because it pleases Him who made us for us so to do.

MISSISSIPPI TRYING TO APE RICHER STATES.

One of Mississippi's most perplexing public matters today grows out of the fact that she has been trying to ape other states which have much greater wealth than she has. A time or two recently we have seen the statement in reference to highways and the amount that should be provided for expenditure just now that this state ought to follow North Carolina. That is good advice if it is limited to as far as Mississippi is able to go.

Mississippi's total assessment is approximately $750,000,000. There are five counties in North Carolina whose assessed valuation is more than our whole state. We refer to the counties of Buncombe, Forsyth, Mecklenburg, Gaston and Guilford whose total assessment last year was $758,054,849. North Carolina has 100 counties. Its state debt is limited to 7½ per cent of its total assessment. That state does not place a state tax on land or personal property; the taxing of these properties is left wholly to the counties The value of the products manufactured in that state in 1925 was $1,050,434,117. After paying all state and county taxes, the industries of North Carolina paid to the federal government, in taxes for the year 1927, the sum of $205,643,000, being outranked in this respect only by the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois. Its per capita assessment is lower than Mississippi's today. That state paid only $5.76 per capita towards maintaining its state government in 1926 while Mississippi paid over $20. North Carolina has a state and county budget law which has teeth in it. In other words, the business of the state is run in a business way.

According to official figures issued this week by Hon. C. C. White, state auditor, the total bonded indebtedness of the state of Mississippi and its subdivisions amounts to $140,043,776 or $87.50 for every man, woman and child in the state, reckoning our population at 1,600,000.

The trouble with the country today is that too many of us are trying to ape our rich or better-to-do neighbors in maintaining our families, and Mississippi is today paying the price for similar tactics.

Let the state go forward wisely and cautiously remembering all the time that pay-day is coming.

WE'RE FOR KWKH

Radio broadcasting station, KWKH, at Shreveport, La., is threatened with the loss of its wave length and unless its listeners support the station by affidavits that they wish KWKH to retain its present wave length, the probability is that "Old Man" Henderson will lose his fight before the Federal Radio Commission. We don't know enough about radio to know just what would happen to KWKH if the Oklahoma station wishing its wave length wins out, but we're for KWKH regardless of the arguments being advanced against it.

By referring to Mr. Henderson as "Old Man" Henderson, no disrespect is meant him. It is rather a term of intimacy and affection. He is by no means an old man. His station is one of the best on the air and it is he, himself, that has made KWKH so popular with the radio public. He is exceedingly frank about all matters concerning which he broadcasts. He impresses his listeners as being absolutely fearless in his utterances, speaking just what he thinks and calling a spade a spade always.

Never has KWKH been so interesting and entertaining as during the late presidential campaign. It was, speaking without fear of contradiction, the "hottest" Democratic station on the air and it did perhaps as much as any other one agency to promote the cause of Democracy.

It is to be hoped that Grenada radio fans who regularly tune in on KWKH will furnish "Old Man" Henderson plenty of affidavits from this community and we hope that "hello, world, doggone your buttons", will be heard over the air for many, many moons to come.

GOV. AL SMITH'S RADIO POST-ELECTION SPEECH

Gov. Al Smith's speech delivered over the radio on the night of Jan. 16, surprised his political friends, outside of his immedeiate circle, and was disappointing to his enemies. What he said was sound. It was an injunction to the Democratic party and the country to keep a vigilant eye on public affairs and a plea not to go to sleep at the switch. His appeal to the members of the party throughout the country to come forward and help take care of the campaign deficit took a unique turn in that a book containing his campaign speeches is to be sold at the price of $2. and the money derived therefrom to be used to pay what the campaign committee owes.

If there are any Democrats figuring on Al for the next campaign, in the language of Henry Watterson, we would say to them that they are seeking to lead the party "through a slaughter house to an open grave". Al cannot make it. He is a great fellow. He is a statesman but the wheels in his head about "local option" forces the idea to the front that his national slogan appeals to the appetite and no man can be elected president of the United States upon an appeal to the baser appetite. Nevertheless, Al Smith is going to be potent in party councils. He is one of the worth while men of the nation. He talks out in the meeting. He does not hide in the bushes.

A MATTER THAT DEMANDS ATTENTION.

Some months ago before the present city administration went into office, an order was passed by the city council, if our memory serves us correctly, ordering that the alley between The Sentinel office and the City Boarding House, on Main Street, be concreted.

This order was passed long ago but as yet nothing has been done about it. Where is the hitch?

After a heavy rain, the sidewalk on Main Street into which the alley leads, is impassable to one who is not wearing rubber boots. A regular torrent of water pours over the walk onto the street paving. The alley itself is such an ugly sight that words cannot describe its ugliness. It's a disgrace and a slam on the much boasted beauty of the "City Beautiful".

The present mayor promises some kind of action on the matter but promises can do nothing. Faith without works is dead.

This is not a personal grievance with us. It injures us no more than it does any other citizen and taxpayer of Grenada but the condition of the alley is an affront to the pride of those who love our community.

The reparations issue between France and Germany in which Great Britain, Belgium and our own government are more or less concerned, will be settled on the terms of "Big Business" now that J. Pierpont Morgan is one of the U. S. Commissioners. "Big Business" is at the swill trough in this country now and the prospects are that it is going to stay there for some time which means that it is going to be harder and harder for the man down the line to make buckle and tongue meet.

The general minutes and year book of the M. E. Church, South, shows that it had a decrease in membership last year of 1875. This conference district showed a gain of 901 members.

It cost Grenada last year to run its city government $52.70 for every man, woman and child within its corporate limits, reckoning its population at 4500 people.

Gov. Horton of Tennesse has recommended to the legislature of that state the levying of several luxury taxes.

And the tariff has been raised on plate glass; 'twas not already selling high enough. On with the dance.

CHARLESTON ROTARY CLUB BRINGS DISTRICT SHIELD

Sixty-five per cent of the membership of the Charleston Rotary Club was present Tuesday noon at the meeting of the local club, coming over to deliver to Grenada Rotarians the district governor's shield, which is on a good will tour of the twenty-six clubs in the sixteenth district. The idea of having the shield go from club to club was conceived by Birney Imes, of Columbus, district governor, and it is hoped thereby to cement the strong bonds of friendship and fellowship already existing between the clubs and their members and to create a "league of neighbors" within the territory making up the governor's jurisdiction. The emblem is to remain in the permanent possession of the club sending the greatest representation to accompany the shield to the next club receiving it.

At the opening of the meeting, President Andrew Carothers turned his gavel over to Jake Weinstein, president of the visiting club, who took charge of the program. Walter Gunn, chairman of the visitors' program committee, introduced Misses Thomas and Dickens, and Mr. Albert Galceran, musicians, and the entertainers of the day. They presented a most appropriate musical program, after which J. R. Fewell, of Charleston, made a most inspiring talk on the sixth object of Rotary. He was followed by J. A. Blount, also of Charleston and a former Grenadian, who delivered the shield to the Grenada club, in a short but effective address. On behalf of the Grenadians, Hubert Calhoon accepted the emblem, with a few happy remarks.

Besides the visitors already mentioned, other guests at the luncheon were Mr. Lee, of Jackson, Rev. Mellville Johnson, of Winona, a former Grenada Rotarian, and Messrs. W. J. Jennings and Carl Workman, of Grenada.

Twenty-six Grenada Rotarians signified their intention of accompanying the governor's shield to Water Valley tonight when it is to be presented to the Water Valley club.

PENSION FUNDS DISBURSED

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 21.—Although 1,707 Confederate veterans shared in the January disbursement of the pension fund, more than 35 of the number will be stricken from the next disbursement as a result of death.

A large number of the deaths resulted from the recent epidemic of influenza, with others parting the way through old age.

The January quarter funds, recently mailed by Carl C. White, state auditor, amounted to $342,070. The total for the year to be distributed is $1,381,175.

Auditor White said that 6,282 persons received part of the January disbursement, soldiers, widows and servants. The next payment will be made in April.

The Confederate veterans receive $1 a day, with 896 widows in the class receiving the same amount. In the other classes of widows—according to length of marriage—are the following: 1,944 widows receiving $150 a year; 839 widows receiving $100 a year, and 564 widows receiving $75 a year.

Three hundred thirty two servants of soldiers of the Civil War receive $40 a year.

Disbursements to counties out of the January allotment were as follows:

Adams, $2,021.25; Alcorn, $6,995; Amite, $5,033.75; Attala, $6,763.75; Benton, $2,572.50; Bolivar, $1,805; Calhoun, $7,268.75; Carroll, $4,527.50; Chickasaw, $6,033.75; Choctaw, $3,463.73; Claiborne, $2,311.25; Clarke, $5,742.50; Clay, $3,237.50; Coahoma, $1,026.25; Copiah, $11,165; Covington, $4,421.25; DeSoto, $3,620; Forrest, $4,333.75; Franklin, $2,890; George, $1,256.25; Greene, $1,576.25; Grenada, $3,275; Hancock, $397.50; Harrison, $4,298.75.

VAUGHN IS GLAD HE TURNED TO SARGON

Gained 17 Pounds And Hasn't A Trouble Left, States Memphis Citizen.

Astonishing results reported daily by hundreds of people continue to spread the fame of Sargon, throughout this section. The tremendous demand for Sargon has become the talk of the drug trade. It has relieved thousands of the most obstinate cases - many of them long standing - after all other treatments had seemingly failed.

Among those reporting remarkable benefits is George I. Vaughn, well known Memphis jewelry salesman with offices at 95 S. Main St. Mr. Vaughn said:

"Sargon overcame troubles that had affected my health for a year and I gained seventeen pounds. I simply feel like a man made over new.

"I had lost so much weight and felt so nervous and run-down generally that I am convinced my health would have been practically wrecked if I had not got Sargon when I did, for other medicines only seemed to give me temporary relief. I had to take a laxative every day. I suffered almost continuously from severe headaches and was forced to take something all the time to counter-act the acids in my system.

"About a week after I began taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills I could see a big improvement in my condition. Sargon began building up my strength, weight and appetite wonderfully. I am feeling like a new man now from head to foot. The constipation, nervousness and indigestion are now entirely gone. I eat three big meals every day and enjoy every bite, and as I said, I've gained seventeen pounds.

"There are thousands of people who need the Sargon treatment just like I did, and I wish every one of them could know how fine it is."

Sargon may be obtained in Grenada from the Corner Drug Store.

Estes-Stevens.

On last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Mildred Russell Stevens and Mr. John Nowell Estes were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stevens, on College Boulevard, Rev. J. H. Holder, pastor of the Methodist church, performing the ceremony. Only the immediate relatives of the couple and intimate friends were present.

Ferns and cut flowers were used to decorate the living room where the ceremony was said. Miss Dora Emma Stevens, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, gowned in navy blue georgette, preceded the bridal couple. The bride was gowned in tan georgette with accessories in harmony, wearing a corsage of red rosebuds and madien hair ferns.

Miss Katherine Lufkin played Lohengrin's Wedding March for the entrance of the bride and groom, and during the ceremony softly played "The Sweetest Story Ever Told".

Immediately after the wedding the happy couple left for Memphis by motor for a short honeymoon trip. The bride wore an attractive tan figured flat crepe with a close fitting tan hat and coat to harmonize, as her traveling suit.

Mrs. Estes is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stevens and by her winning personality has made for herself innumerable friends. She was graduated at Grenada High School and had two years' study at Grenada College. She is a potent influence for good in her church and is a valued member of the young peoples department of the Methodist Sunday School. She is well fitted to carry out the marriage vows to which she has obligated herself.

Mr. Estes is the son of Mrs. Kate Estes and is chief treating engineer at the Ayer & Lord tie plant, having been connected with this firm for several years. He was reared in a Christian home and had instilled in him the highest principles of right living which fit him for the best things of life.

The out of town guests were Mrs. Robert Turner, of Kosciusko, and Mrs. Wayne Williams, of Greenwood, girlhood chums of the bride.

Their many friends wish for Mr. and Mrs. Estes a long and happy married life, in which The Sentinel joins.

Mission Society Meets.

The first program meeting of the year of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church was held in the auditorium of the church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Ernest Penn, leader of circle No. 1, had charge of the meeting after a short business session conducted by Mrs. Robert Sharp, vice president, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Bruce Newsom.

After the devotional by Mrs. Penn, who read John, 9, Mrs. A. W. Stokes led in prayer. Mrs. I. M. Stevens, gave a splendid paper, "Handicapped", followed by Mrs. Stokes, who gave some vital notes on, "After the Jubilee". Mrs. Paul Sisk told of the urgent mission needs in the foreign fields.

It was voted to have the secretary, Mrs. Ida Campbell, compile a history of the Grenada society, from its beginning to be printed in the north Mississippi conference minutes this year.

Mrs. Bruce Newsom was elected a delegate to the Annual Woman's Missionary Conference of north Mississippi to be held in Belzoni the latter part of February. Mrs. Jack Lott was named as alternate. Mrs. Stokes, district secretary, will also attend the conference.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. J. H. Holder.

ROUNSAVILLE IS PENITENT

Dear Friends:

I want to write a few lines to the paper to ask a favor of the many good people of Grenada county.

My case is known everywhere and oh, the shame that I feel as I think of my wrong doings and to think of how my people felt when in my own home county, I committed this deed of taking something that didn't belong to me, and then seeing it stated in the paper in black and white. (However the statement wasn't exactly right.) But it meant the stain of a bad deal that perhaps will follow me to my grave.

But dear friends, I want your influence in helping me and saying any word in my favor that you can and I'll certainly be faithful to my word that if I get out of this I'll never again do a dirty thing like this, for it haunts me day and night. The thought of being separated from my wife and babies, and leaving them to the mercies of the world, and me a strong able bodied man. Where I might be. Oh, people do forgive me. I ask you as I have ask God and let me prove to you that I will outlive this and be the boy in the future that my dear old daddy has talked and begged me to be. Oh, will I ever forget that miserable heart breaking look on his face that I saw when I came back from jail. I want to in the future prove that I have taken his advice. Ashame though that I waited so long. I want to gain back my friends and try to have as many as my dear old daddy has. He is so honest and good I'm always glad if some one asked me is Gus Rounsaville my daddy to tell them yes. I feel glad of him but feel like I'm pulling him down in one sense of the word to tell them I'm his boy after being so rough. But I never entend to cause another gray hair in his head by dishonesty. Many kind thanks.

CLYDE ROUNSAVILLE.

SELVIN'S PERFORMANCES MYSTIFY AUDIENCES HERE

Packed audiences have greeted the appearances of Selvin, the Magician, at the Grenada Theatre this week. And those who have seen the masterful performances of this renowned artist have been more than mystified. Selvin's repertoire is not the usual run of magician's tricks but he goes much further than the average performer. If one were asked to say what his crowning achievement is he would probably say that his escape from a burial casket enclosed in a locked and securely fastened casket box eclipses all others. It is the climax of the entertainment when Selvin invites a dozen or more men from the audience to place him in the casket, close it and then place the casket in the box. The box is secured at various points by chains padlocked, and the top is screwed and nailed down by those from the audience. In just a few moments' time, the magician reappears on the stage and the box is exhibited apparently as securely fastened as it was when he was in it. None has been found who could satisfactorily explain how this feat was accomplished.

Selvin has appeared in Grenada before and he has always met with a most generous reception. He is in a class by himself and Grenadians will look forward to the time when he will visit the town again.

CARD OF THANKS

When the dark clouds of sorrow and anguish gather over our heads, it is then that we realize how deeply dependent we are on our friends and neighbors for interest, sympathy and help. Thus we feel in our heart of hearts that we should give some public expression of our gratitude for the kindly interest manifested by seemingly everybody in our husband and father during his illness and for the many loving attentions and sincere evidences of sympathy shown us after he was called away. Such acts prove again the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Our friends are helping us to carry the burden of the great sorrow that has come to us. May God's love be and abide with each and all of you.

Most sincerely,
MRS. J. C. PERRY,
MRS. RICE PRESSGROVE,
J. B. PERRY,
C. A. PERRY,
MRS. ELIZABETH BROWN
Grenada, Miss., Jan. 24. 1929.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to publicly acknowledge our gratitude to the doctors and nurses who were so good and attentive to our dear son and brother during his illness in the Grenada Hospital. They were faithful unto the end and their earnest efforts to save his life were never ceasing. We are grateful, too, to the many kind friends who were so solicitous of his welfare and who were so thoughtful and sympathetic following his death.

We pray God's richest blessings upon each of you.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Green W. Carpenter and Family.
Holcomb, Miss., Jan. 17, 1929.

A strange jumble of signals at a railroad intersection in Houston, Texas, mystified trainmen and tied yard traffic in a knot. An investigation disclosed that a maniac had overpowered the signalman in his tower and was amusing himself by rapidly and promiscuously changing the signals. Fortunately no accidents resulted.

CARD OF THANKS

Our grief over the death of our little daughter and granddaughter, Lee Ora, is somewhat assuaged by the thought that she is not dead but just gone on before, and by the further fact that so many, so very many have tried to share our sorrow with us. We desire to express our lasting appreciation to Doctors Clanton and Hill and to the good nurses at the Grenada Hospital for the earnest and prayerful attention which they gave our baby. May God's blessings be and abide upon all.

Very gratefully,
Chester Pratt Irby and Wife,
Mrs. Sallie Irby.

GRENADA, MISS.

25 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

From the Files of THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Mr. Milton Moore and his lovely wife were in Grenada recently visiting relatives. We are glad to state that Mr. Moore is doing a fine business in the drug line at Lula. He deserves success as he is a splendid gentleman.

Mr. E. L. Austin has opened up a general mercantile store in the Masonic Odd Fellows building, next to Jacobs & Klein. Mr. Austin is a wide awake, intelligent gentleman, as well as an experienced business man. He has our best wishes for success. Mr. F. W. Bloodworth, a genial and affable young gentleman, will be found in the store.

Mrs. S. W. Farmer and interesting children, of Winona, are visiting relatives here.

Quite a bevy of young ladies, students of the Columbus College, spent a greater part of Sunday here, while en route to Columbus from their holiday vacation with homefolks.

Mr. Sam Cain returned from Jackson Thursday where he has been visiting relatives. His charming wife is still there.

Hons. S. A. Morrison, Representative, and W. S. P. Doty, Floater Representative, left Monday night for Jackson to be present when the legislature met Tuesday.

Our old friend, Mr. J. L. S. Travis, of Paris, Tenn., was in Grenada Friday. He is representing the National Toilet Company of Paris.

Mr. John Martin's many friends were glad to meet him here during the holidays. He represents the Newburger Cotton Co. at Oxford.

Prof. Hubbard, superintendent of the public school, returned Sunday night from a week's visit in St. Louis.

Our friend, Mr. Geo. Campbell, now living in Sunflower county, spent the holidays with his parents in Grenada.

Messrs. Edwin Newburger and George Armstrong, of Coffeeville, were in Grenada Tuesday.

Mr. R. C. Fox, of Duck Hill, was in Grenada Tuesday on business.

Mr. J. E. Webb, of the delta, is visiting friends here this week.

Mr. J. L. McCracken has accepted the position of teller of the Grenada Bank. This sterling and social young gentleman was raised at Hardy and is well known in the town and county. For the past three years he has been the efficient freight and ticket agent of the Illinois Central at West Point and has been in the service of this road altogether eight years. We congratulate the bank on securing his services and feel assured he will give splendid satisfaction. We cordially welcome him and his splendid wife to Grenada.

Mrs. A. J. Angevin, of Grenada, Miss., and her son, A. J. Angevin, Jr., are the guests of their relative, T. J. Cole.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McLeod, on Tuesday at high noon, their lovely daughter, Miss Bessie, was married to Dr. Anthony Miller, of Pantherburn, Miss., the marriage being said in a concise and impressive manner by Rev. J. C. Carothers, pastor of the Presbyterian church here. The wedding was a quiet affair and only the relatives and intimate friends of the family were present. The bride is one of Grenada's most charming and popular daughters, having been reared here, she commands the admiration of all who know her. Dr. Miller is a prominent planter of Pantherburn, and a gentleman of culture and influence. He is a member of the Mississippi Legislature from Sharkey county, which county he has represented in the lower house for several terms, being regarded as one of its most substantial members. The wedded couple left Tuesday night for a short bridal tour after which they will reside in Jackson during the remaining session of the Legislature.

Mr. Chas. Statham, a knight of the grip, whose recent change in territory places Grenada upon his itinerary, was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Statham formerly resided here, having been an employe of Doak & Wolf, and has many friends here who will note this change with pleasure.

Dr. S. A. Steel preached two able sermons at the Methodist church Sunday to large and appreciative audiences. His discourses at both the morning and evening hours were logical and eloquent, and of the kind that has placed him well up in the front ranks of his denomination as a pulpit orator.

Miss Lula Schultz, of Oakland, visited friends here this week.

Mr. John F. Phillips, of Winona, visited relatives here last week.

Misses Florence Perkins, of Batesville, and Cliff Hinds, of Guntown, are visiting the Misses Dubard.

Mr. Alvin Weeks, a prominent young druggist of Vicksburg, visited friends in Grenada Sunday.

Mr. J. H. Dulin, a former citizen of Grenada, but now of Minter, Ark., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. H. L. McNamara.

The Jesse James Company which appears at the opera house tonight is experiencing a remarkably successful tour this season. With a strong company this western drama is presented in the most pleasing manner.

H. W. Clifton and wife, who have resided in Grenada for some time, have returned to their former home at Hernando. Mr. Clifton, while here, was an employee of the Grenada Bank. We regret the departure of him and his estimable wife from our midst.

Mrs. J. T. Smith left Wednesday afternoon for Water Valley to be present at the marriage of her brother, W. B. Barry and Miss Whitson, which occurred in that city Thursday evening.

Mr. R. J. Edgerton, of Missouri, and Miss Hattie Seltz, of Kansas, were married at the boarding house of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Garner, Thursday, January 21, 1904, Rev. Wm. E. Roberts officiating. The groom is a traveling gentleman, while the bride is a beautiful and attractive young lady. The bride and groom met here where their lives were united in wedlock. We hope their entire future life may be as bright and happy as seemed their stay in Grenada.

Rev. J. W. Lee preached two able sermons at the Cetnral Baptist church Sunday upon The Second Coming of Christ. This was a continuation of a series of sermons upon this subject to which Rev. Lee has given particular study.

On Thursday, Jan. 14, the Dixie Chapter U. D. C. met with Mrs. M. E. Nicholson. Quite a number of members and several invited guests were present to enjoy this first meeting of the new year. Business having been disposed of, an interesting program was rendered after which elegant refreshments were served.

The stockholders of the Grenada Hotel Company held their annual meeting last week, and declared the usual annual dividend of 8 per cent. The following officers were elected for the year 1904: R. Doak, president; J. W. Young, vice-president; B. F. Thomas, secretary and treasurer. We are glad to note the increased business of the hotel. There is no more popular hotel gentleman in the state than Major Thomas.

Drs. J. W. Sharp and S. D. Scruggs and Messrs. A. S. Bell, H. W. Lowery, J. T. Thomas, Chas. Farmer and Spencer Bell, Jr., attended the inaugural ceremonies of Gov. Jas. K. Vardaman on Tuesday last.

George Wilson, of Vaiden, has accepted a position with the popular firm of Leigh-Underwood Co. Mr. Wilson is a cousin to business manager Jack Wilson, of this firm.

Mr. W. B. Barnes, whom everybody knows and everybody likes, is with Roane & Co., and extends a cordial invitation to all to call on him, where they will receive a warm welcome.

Mr. J. L. Scott, claim agent for the Illinois Central, and his excellent family, who have formerly lived at Jackson, have moved to Grenada and will reside here in the future.

A. B. Boyd was in St. Louis the greater part of this week. Mr. Boyd purchased a car load of fine mules and mares which he will put on the market here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jones and family are spending several weeks in the delta.

Messrs. Max Ginsburger, Egbert Meaders and A. B. Boyd were in Memphis this week.

Mrs. John Echols visited relatives in Duck ill last Sunday.

Mrs. J. S. Cameron, of Lauderdale county, is now residing in Grenada, where her intelligent and excellent husband has been making his headquarters for several months. She is a most estimable lady, coming, as she does, from one of the best families in the south. They will prove quite an acquisition to Grenada.

When a New York couple were divorced recently an agreement was made whereby the former husband and wife are each to keep the pet dog six months every year. Now to round out the story it should develop that their mutual love for the dog brings about a reconciliation.

A man in Deerfield, Mass., has just cashed a post office money order issued in 1858. A rather plausible explanation of the delay of 70 years is given by the added information that someone had placed the money order between the leaves of the family bible.

SIDELIGHTS ON WASHINGTON

By John E. Rankin, Member of Congress From Mississippi.

As we swing into the last lap of the Coolidge administration and begin to scent the atmosphere of the approaching new regime, we are reminded of the old adage that "coming events cast their shadows before."

If that suggestion is to be seriously considered and literally construed, the present situation in Washington is sufficient to make our people, and especially our farming population, pause and ponder.

Crowded into the spacious room of the Committee on Ways and Means, jamming the doors and stringing down the corridors, are representatives of the big interests, those highly protected industries that have grown fabulously rich during the last eight years at the expense of the rest of the American people through the instrumentality of the present high protective tariff laws. Conspicuous among them are the representatives of the steel trust, regardless of the fact that the United States Steel Corporation recently paid a 40 per cent stock dividend and still has a surplus of more than six hundred million dollars left in its treasury.

What are they doing there? They are demanding that the tariff be raised on their already over protected manufactured articles, thereby subverting in advance the farm relief session of the coming congress. In round numbers the tariff is costing the American people four billion dollars a year. Approximately six hundred million dollars of it goes into the Federal Treasury, while three billion four hundred million go into the pockets of the manufacturers for which the masses of the American people who pay it, get nothing in return. Thus $40.00 is taken from every man, woman, and child in the United States, every year, $6.00 of which goes into the Federal Treasury while $34.00 go into the pockets of the manufacturers. A county with a population of thirty thousand people pays about one million two hundred thousand dollars a year in tariff taxes, of which the Federal Government gets one hundred and eighty thousand dollars, while the tariff barons reap a profit of one million twenty thousand dollars.

No wonder the agricultural states, which sell their products in an open market and buy their goods in a protected market, are not enjoying a just share of the alleged prosperity, of which we hear so much.

But they tell us that the farmers are also protected by the tariff. Tariff on cotton will not protect us, for the reason that there is little or no cotton shipped into the United States of the staple grown by the vast majority of our cotton farmers. Tariff on corn will not raise the price of corn for the simple reason that no corn to amount to anything is shipped into the United States. With the present high tariff on wheat, wheat is selling higher in Winnepeg than it is in Chicago, because there is more wheat shipped out of the United States than there is shipped into it.

But the farmers who are reaping the benefit from the present tariff law are the dairy farmers. The tariff on butter, cheese, condensed milk, cream, and all other dairy products has raised the price of these commodities and enabled the dairy farmer to enjoy greater prosperity than any other farmers in the United States.

It seems that we are bound to have this high protective tariff law for at least another four years, so my advice to our farmers is to get in the "band wagon", go in for dairy farming, and get their share of the prosperity which this system is bringing to those whom it really protects.

Worried Night after Night as health declined

"I SUFFERED frequently from nervous headaches, and I could not sleep well," says Mrs. Cora Dover, R. F. D. 2, Hickory Grove, S. C. "I was thin and pale. I was so weak I could scarcely walk.

"I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to help me. Night after night I worried because I could see I was going down-hill. I had my children to look after, and I was afraid of what would become of them if anything happened to me.

"I began to take Cardui. It wasn't long until I was beginning to pick up. My strength gradually began to return. I rested better at night and was less nervous. I took several bottles of Cardui, and when I had finished taking it I was in fine health."

Extra Bales— EXTRA DOLLARS

Start now to make them

IT is the extra yield per acre that makes real cotton profit.

Say you made one-third bale per acre last year. Feed your next crop plenty of Chilean Nitrate of Soda and you ought to at least double your yield, for Chilean Nitrate sets a larger crop, then helps it through to early maturity. Stronger plants. Better cotton too. More strength to fight bad weather and early bolls to beat the weevil.

"I have been using Chilean Nitrate of Soda for six years. Formerly I used meal, but I now know that it is slow acting.
If you put down 800 to 900 pounds of a good fertilizer per acre you don't have to worry about boll weevil, army worms or anything else. You will make enough cotton for these pests and yourself too."
K. V. Galtney, Canton, Miss.

Chilean Nitrate is the old, original "Soda", the natural product—not synthetic. Used profitably for over 50 years. Last year every cotton champion used it to make his winning crop. Place your order now for all the Chilean Nitrate you need and be sure of extra bales from your new crop.

What about the FLU ?

HAVE you had it? Are you going to have it? What are you doing to prevent it?

Everybody is asking these questions just now.

Doctors say to keep out of crowds; be cheerful; eat good food; get plenty of sleep; keep the bowels open.

At the first sign of constipation, take a dose of Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT.

At the first sign of Flu, that is, when you begin to have a little temperature and feel like you are taking cold, go to bed and call your doctor. You can not cure the Flu on your feet.

Prevention, as everyone knows, is better than cure. One of the best ways to prevent catching a cold which might develop into the Flu, is to keep your system free from impurities by using Thedford's

The motoring public has found something in the new De Soto Six that sets it completely apart from others in its field.

It is not surprising that a car so beautiful, so comfortable, so powerful and responsive, and so safe and easy to drive should find a ready market.

But it is significant that even such a car should set a new sales record for the industry during the first five months of its existence.

The answer must lie in a widespread public conviction that the genius and resources of Chrysler confer upon De Soto a standard of value that is unmatched by any car of comparable price.

NEWSPAPER POLICY--

And What It Means To You

In private affairs you prefer to do business with men of known enterprise, skill and integrity, no matter if their opinions and yours are remote as the poles. If they meet their obligations, fill your orders in service and goods---and are pleasant about it---they get your trade. Isn't that so? Similarly, the newspaper that holds your patronage must have those same qualities of honesty and enterprise. In addition, it must be informative and entertaining. A newspaper that meets such requirements is deserving of your patronage---and the profit is mutual.

The Grenada Sentinel

was founded in 1853 as a newspaper devoted solely to the interests of the people of Grenada County---to render a full measure of service in giving all the news that's fit to be read; in stating its editorial opinions fairly and honestly and to make its presence attractive and welcome in your homes.
